

When you drive away in your new VW, you'll leave a very important element of your warranty behind.

The VW technician.

He's the one that enables us to make good on all the promises in your warranty.

Any warranty requires a technician to back it up. With VW, you can be sure you're getting one of the best.

You'll find the VW technician at all of the more than 1,000 dealerships throughout the U.S. And wherever you find him—from Maine to California—you can be certain he's VW trained to service and repair your car should it become necessary.

In addition, he has access to a complete range of genuine VW replacement parts. And that's important. Because they're made to the same high standards as the original parts your VW came with.

What about the warranty: Like our technician, it's one of the best, too.

At Volkswagen of America, Inc., we're proud of the quality of the cars we import. So we warrant every new VW for 12 months or 20,000 miles from the date of purchase, whichever comes first. In general, the vehicle, including battery and tires, is covered under the provisions of the Limited New Vehicle Warranty (see reverse side). It will be honored by any authorized VW dealer in the continental United States, Hawaii and Canada.

This warranty is automatically transferred if the ownership of the vehicle changes within the above period.

In order to keep your warranty in force, you as the owner of the vehicle are responsible for providing regular maintenance at specified intervals. You'll find complete details, along with a place for record keeping in your VW Warranty and Maintenance booklet. Maintenance services should be performed by authorized VW dealers, if at all possible.

You're sure to have some questions about your VW warranty, so here are some answers:

2. You mentioned your responsibility for providing regular maintenance at specified intervals. What do you mean by regular maintenance?

A. In addition to being in your best interest, it is also your responsibility to maintain your VW through periodic servicing described in the VW Warranty and Maintenance Periods. These maintenance services are designed to protect your investment in your VW, and to assure safe, economical use of the vehicle. In other words, they are the average normally required to keep any car in the city well below 100,000. For example, they would include all oil changes and lubrication on specified and periodic adjustments to various operating features such as brakes, clutch cables, timing, etc. Also, wheel alignment or wheel balancing could become necessary due to driving habits or local road conditions.

3. What about tires?

A. VW provides coverage through its dealers. If there is a defect, you pay only an adjusted amount based on the percentage of the tire tread that you have used.

4. What about any VW's leaks?

A. Parts and time require regular care, as outlined in the owner's manual. If you detect any irregularities during the warranty period, and they are our fault, we will take care of them.

5. What is not covered under the warranty?

A. Damages or losses caused by accident, misuse or fire are not covered. Nor are we responsible for any loss of time, loss of the use of the vehicle, inconvenience, or any other consequential damages. Damages caused by alterations or from use of the vehicle in races or stunts are also excluded from the warranty. Along with modifications caused by the use of non-genuine VW parts.

6. Are VW parts covered?

A. Yes. VW warrants parts for 6 months or 5,000 miles, whichever comes first. For example, success we fail to replace a wheel bearing a month before your 60,000 mile warranty was scheduled to expire, it would guarantee the wheel bearing for 6 months or 5,000 miles, whichever comes first, from the time we installed it.

We can offer all the coverage between Volkswagen is a well made car. But to put, but more than that, if any problems do come up, we feel that you're entitled to have them solved fairly and with a minimum of inconvenience to you.

There's of warranty to the best from defects in material or workmanship for a period of 6 months or 5,000 miles, whichever comes first.
