Audi S1-compatible

When you see this marking, you know at a glance that the associated Audi Genuine Accessories product is also compatible with the Audi S1 or S1 Sportback.

1# "The first lines I put to paper are inspired by city journeys, urban architecture or trendy locations."

Peter Lemke, Design at Audi Genuine Accessories

2# "The design of Audi Genuine Accessories does not change the character of the vehicle. The design complements it, adds an individual note and makes the Audi unmistakably the driver's own."

Peter Lemke, Design at Audi Genuine Accessories

3# "Matching up materials, colours and finishes in a certain way to create a harmonious connection between the exterior and interior – that is the biggest challenge. And it is also the greatest joy, because we ultimately always succeed in offering the customer a great number of combinations to play with."

Tiziana Mauri and Philipp Renner, Design at Audi Genuine Accessories

A great level of detail is what makes a great design.

Audi experts from many development areas combine their entire expertise to produce a vehicle that will meet your expectations – and in many respects even exceed them. High-quality materials, a precision fit and sophisticated manufacturing processes take top priority. This, of course, also applies to Audi Genuine Accessories.

The active kit is an example of this: After the first sketches are created, 3D models are produced in order to offer a virtual display in a 1:1 scale on a "powerwall" and to enable visual checks down to the last detail. This is the best way to inspect and ultimately improve the surfaces and contours of the vehicle and the active kit. The ability to simulate different perspectives and various lighting conditions – even country-specific conditions – is also a useful feature. What does the model look like under the California sun at 1pm? What about in London when it is cloudy? The powerwall allows these conditions to be reproduced exactly. The effect of colour also plays a major role. Our designers primarily draw on their many years of experience in choosing which shades accentuate the character of the vehicle, as well as their good insight into setting colour trends. When it came to the active kit, the entire team was in agreement: Platinum Grey is best at bringing the urban sportiness of the vehicle to the fore. Before this, however, other complex test procedures are required, such as the aerodynamics test in the wind tunnel. Only when all test procedures have been passed with flying colours is the active kit awarded the all-important seal of approval: the Audi Genuine Accessories label.

4# "I cannot imagine a challenge that the active kit could not withstand. After all, in the heat and cold chamber we have exposed it to temperatures ranging from +90°C to -40°C and also extensively tested it in the wind tunnel and with various other test procedures."

Peter Lemke, Design at Audi Genuine Accessories

Due to the manufacturing process, the rim surfaces do not possess sufficient anti-corrosion protection and are at risk of long-term damage due to road salt or similar materials.
